Longitudinal Immigration Database ICARE Dashboard

The Longitudinal Immigration Database links administrative immigration and tax data files. This allows for research on trends over time (2012-2019), economic outcomes for Canada's newcomer population, and demographic data.

On April 12 2023, Statistics Canada released the Analytical Studies Branch Research Paper Accumulation of Human Capital in Canada, 1970 to 2020: An analysis by Gender and the Role of Immigration and the Daily article Immigrants make up the largest share of the population in over 150 years and continue to shape who

we are as Canadians released on October 26 2022.

The dashboard was released on March 28 2023, using data acquired previously in ICARE tables T1 and T2. The IMBD ICARE dashboard presents interactive charts on immigrant tax filer mobility and economic outcomes comparing it to admission categories, areas of birth, and settlement service delivery, for the tax years 2012-2019 at the LIP, CSD, CD, PR, and Canada levels.
